the North Carolina conference where he has been pastor of the Wilson church, at Rocky Mount. He has been very popular as a pastor, and is said to church he has been serving is one of the largest in North Carolina. Rev. W. G. Crawley, who comes to St. Paul church, is one of the most successful evangelists in this conference, and has been very successful as a paster. He is the type of minister to prove a great suc-cess at St. Paul church, which is the second largest in the Southern Methodist denomination.

FINDERS KEEPERS HOLDS THE COURT AND BOY GETS $1,300

Newcastle, Ind., November 15.— Ownership of $1.300 in gold found buried on a farm near Greensboro, six months ago by Levy Todd, a 15-year-old boy, was settled today in the circuit court here by Judge Gause deciding that "finders are keepers."

Gause deciding that "finders are keepers."

While excavating for a basement under an old house, young Todd drove his pick into an earthenware jar containing the money, and then started a three-cornered fight for its ownership.

Mrs. Clara Freeman Vickery, of this city, claimed the money was part of her mother's estate, and John Hardin, present owner of the farm, sought an interest as owner of the land. The judge gave the money te its youthful finder, holding the evidence was insufficient to show Mrs. Vickery's mother had buried it, and that Mr. Hardin's ownership of the land did not give him ownership of the money because he was ignorant of its existence.

The Cranes, according to the testimony, have occupied separate quarters in Mr. Crane's Wild Rose farm here for more than two years, with locked and barred doors between them. Mrs. Crane is the mother of a 2-year-old son, whom when he was ignorant of its existence.

Resolution Urging Congress to Pass Drastic Legislation Adopted by

Conference on Monday. BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT. One of the most interesting ac tions taken by the session of the North Georgia conference, which came to a close Monday night, was that referring to Sunday observance, the conference falling into line with other conferences of the Southern Methodist connection that have taken action in the matter and put ting its forces in the determination to endeavor to have congress enact a national Sunday law. Toward this end the conference unanimously approved the report of the committee and the conference members pledged in December. Gossip represents the themselves to urge their various congregations to create all possible sentiment in behalf of the measure and to co-operate with all who labor toward the same purpose. The details of the law desired, such as was introduced by Senator Kellar and which appears on page 3377 of The Congressional Record for February 20, this year, would forbid all forms of labor on Sundays, the opening of postoffices, transportation of all kinds, issuing Sunday papers, picture shows, golf, baseball and other like games, soft-drink stands, drug stores and all buying and selling on Sundays. Washington Orders Vessels to Remove Refugees Gathered at Sebastopol and Other Coast Points.

Red Forces Entered Sebastopol Sunday Evening-Defeat of Wrangel Makes Position of Bolsheviki Stronger Than

Washington, November 15.—All available American warships in the Black Sea are to be used to assist refugees in leaving the Crimea in advance of the bolsheviki armies. Authority for such use of the ships was given by the state and navy departments today upon the urgent recommendation of Rear Admiral McCully, commander of American warships in southern Russian waters. It has not yet been determined where the refugees will be taken. At the state department it was said that because of the epidemic of typhus at Sebastopol they might not be taken to Constantinople, but to one of the Greek islands in the Aegean Sea.

Statement Is Issued. The state department issued the following statement:

"Upon receipt of telegraphic information from the department's representatives at Sebastopol, Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, that the evacuation of the Crimea appeared inevitable and recommending that the government of the United States assist in the evacuation of civilian refugees, arrangements were made by which Admiral Bristol, the American high commissioner at Constantinople, might employ vessels to assist in the evacuation of refugees from the Crimea. "In instructing Admiral Bristol to use these vessels, instructions were also sent direct to him to coordinate and co-operate with the representatives of Great Britain and France in Constantinople who. it is understood, are directing the forts of their governments in this

"The department has not been informed to what points these refugees will be evacuated, and is reand Russian authorities to work out details of the evacuation.

"In making public this announcement, the department specifically denies its participation in Russian internal strife, its actions being based solely on the humanitarian grounds with a view to assisting in the hour of need large numbers of Russians whose fate, it is be-lieved, would be uncertain and hazardous under such conditions.

It would hardly occur to you that a miracle could be worked through advertising—one that saved to doting parents the life of their only son? Strange as it may seem, that is just exactly what has been accomplished in a specific instance right here in Altoona. We all have heard volumes about the value of advertising, but that the great results achieved by it, should save life, almost passes our belief. However here are the facts in the case.

Witness Swears He Sent President Package of Defective Rivets Used. Complaint Not Noticed.

New York, November 15 .- Alleged defective riveting on ships con structed for the emergency cor-poration was not only called to the attention, of President Wilson, but 'evidence" in the form of a package of rivets was sent to him, as witness before the Walsh commit-tee inquiring into shipping board affairs, testified today.

The witness was Thomas H. Purtell, who described himself as an expert riveter of the "old school." In 1918 he was engaged as an inspector of hulls at the plant of the Submarine Boat corporation. Some of the riveting work in this yard he described as "fierce." He said his superiors would not support him in his contentions of work-therefore, he sent President Wilson "some samples" in the form of defective rivets. He could not say if the president ever saw the "evidence," but he did know he was "fired for sending it." "They gave me only just abou enough time to get my clothes and get out of the yard," he said. Later on, he said, the president answered his complaints through his secretary, Mr. Tumulty. As a result he was reinstated as an in-what poor riveting was by exhibits in the form of drawings by him showing rivets under varied conditions and by samples of rivets used in ship construction. The committee was enlightened as to the meaning of various terms used in describing faulty riveting and as to how alleged poor work was covered up by "doping with red lead and other materials."

He named "hull 13" among others as an example of alleged poor riveting work. Asked if this ship still was afloat, he said he did not know. Chairman Walsh asked how it was that ships on which poor riveting was alleged to have been done were still afloat and the witness said he could not tell. He afterwards said that poor work might not cause a heactdown for four or five years.

witness said.

He presented a letter signed by R. H. Bailey, Jr., assistant to Chairman, Hurley, in which he was informed that his complaints had been investigated and found to be unwarranted. He was aloso told that his charges were without foundation and that for various feasons the shipyards would be just as well off without his serivces.

Led to Poor Work. Led to Poor Work.

Led to Poor Work.

The witness condemned the competition in riveting that took place during the construction period. He said that it led to poor work, and he added that he hoped to see a law passed that would make the passing of a poorly-driven rivet a crime. He also testified that he knew of inspectors who had resigned because they felt that some day a "blow would come and they might be sent over the line."

Replying to a question, he said that he had never heard of a ship that had gone down through defective riveting. One ship among the first turned out, he said, made three attempts to sail, then, on her fourth, managed to get as far as Bermuda, eventually taking 92 days for a trip to Genoa and return. The ship, he said, "suffered from a complication of diseases." He expressed the opinion that the delay and trouble on the 92-day voyage was probably due to defective fuel oil. a practicable way to Point Isabel and Mr. Harding quickly accepted it is most certainly very close to the heart of Wilson. It is Wilson's own child, and so far as the covenant is concerned it is said to be his only

If Article 10 were eliminated, the covenant would be not Wilson's, but someone else's. If Article 10 were eliminated, history would hardly set Wilson down as father of the league of nations. And it is rair to infer that this is exactly the dream that Wilson has about history.

That Wilson personally is responsible for Article 10 there can be no doubt. Battle in Church Follows Dispute Over Communion

Pastor and Congregation of First Christian Church of Baton Rouge in Police Court.

Baton Rouge, Ls., November 15. Decision of the Rev. A. B. Brook not to give communion services yesterday because of lack of heat brought a large part of the con-grogation of the First Christian church to police court either as wit nesses or principals on charges o disturbing the peace placed against the minister and several of his congregation. Police were called to the church to restore order.

According to the police version the dispute began with the attempt of Rev. Mr. Brook to remove the communion vessels from the church Blows were exchanged, it was said. but each side claimed the other struck first. The fight started by the minister, Rev. Brook, hitting Mrs. P. M. Floyd, or Mrs. Floyd hitting the minister-each side claiming the other struck the first blow. But blows were struck, many got in the figl.t, and peace was not re-stored until the police arrived on the scene.

stored until the police arrived on the scene.

The cilmax to the disturbance came in court when Mrs. C. H. Charleton and Mrs. P. M. Floyd were declared guilty of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Charleton was given the option of paying a $25 fine or spending twenty days in jail, while Mrs. Floyd may either pay $10 or spendiem days in jail.

According to the evidence introduced at the trial the trouble started when the pastor, Rev. A. Brook, directed W. S. Wright, an officer of the church, to remove the elements for communion, giving as a reason for the postponement of the communion service that the house was too cold to continue the service longer than the regular period.

Mrs. Charleton was charged with attacking Mr. Wright as he was carrying out the directions of the pastor and several blows, were said by witnesses to have been struck in which both the women defendants and Mr. Wright suffered minor injuries.

The disturbance is said to be the culmination of factional differences between certain members of the Benon, chairman of the heard, said in n address here tonight before the touth Atlantic Ports association hat his "fellow countrymen" could depend upon it that no wrongdoer connected with the board "will esape if his wrongdoing is called to ny attention.'

Not only have I insisted upon a closest watch upon all matters," said Chairman Benson, "but I have followed the work of the shipping board in every port of the world with the one thought in mind that we are now reaching that crucial moment which spells either the sucess or failure of a permanent merchant marine.

There is no effort on our part to shirk whatever responsibility we have assumed. We have insisted that at all times the records are open to the public. Every facility is offered to those who desire information.

"It is an easy matter for any one to pick flaws in an organization like the shipping board. We had to train 300,000 shipbuilders, and in the manning of our ships we have had to frain thousands of men.

Heavy Responsibility. "Of course, in an organization of this magnitude you will find here and there evidences of wrongdoing, and now and then you will uncover a systematic effort to defraud. It was necessary for the shipping board to employ men whose sole responsibility was the uncovering of wrongdoing and these men were charged with a heavy responsibility. The men who we depend upon to be checks upon those who might be tempted to do wrong, bear a heavy responsibility if they falled us, but in an organization spending more Records of the shipping board show that we have allocated many ships to the southern ports and these ships have entered into services in many parts of the world, carrying products of American ships owned and controlled by Americans."

Quoting from the records, the chairman gave the allocation of shipping board vessels to southern ports as follows: New Orleans, 101 ships, 617,228 deadweight tons; Galleyeston, 68 ships, 454,888 tons; Mobile, 35 ships, 174,211 tons; Charleston, 6 ships, 34,282 tons; Savannah, 28 ships, 174,211 tons; Charleston, 6 ships, 34,282 tons, and Wilmington, 1 ship of 3,515 tons.

the young actresses conceived the story, thus yielding a free interpretation.

The acting of Miss Annie Barton as Aeneas is marked by a finish and adeptness worthy of far more experience. She portrays a depth of feeling beyond her years, yet maintains dramatic realism.

Miss Frances Cooper as the sybil reveals unusual ability in her sensitive response to the varied demands of the part. Since "close ups" are the final tests of movie technique, the splendid work along this line of Miss Anna Mulcahy as Rhodomanthus deserves special mention. Among the leading characters are Achates rendered by Miss Reese Tumlin; the Priestess of Apollo by Miss Carlo Gifford, Hecate, goddess of the underworld, by Miss Nellie Means; the double role of Charon and Tisiphon by Miss Catherine Whitmarsh; Minos, by Miss Elizabeth Mann, and Opheus by Miss Olive Hall. The many-headed dog, Cerberus, is played in true Dantian fashion by Miss Sophie Horn.

The play is staged beside a placid lake and in beautiful woodlands near Atlanta. Miss Anabel Horn, head of dramatics, Girls' High

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablet called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Caiotab on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts no nauses nor the slightest interference with your eating; pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your money will be cheerfully retunded if you do not find them delightful.—(advt.)

The story, briefly told, follows: After the capture of Troy by the Greeks, Aeneas, a Trojan prince, escaped with a few followers. After the burial of Misenus, with all the ritual and pomp of Roman days, Aeneas proceeds upon his solitary journey into the land of shades.

Through the gates of Orcus to the River Styx he goes, led by the sybil. Charon ferries him across the dim waters and sets him down before the dreaded guardian, Cerberus. The dreaded guardian, Cerberus. court of Minos, where all souls stand trial, is next visited in the long

A thrilling episode is in the mourning fields of women who committed suicide, where Aeneas meets his former love, Dido, and is spurned. Through the many classes of wicked they pass, viewing the punishment meted out to each.

At last he makes his entry into the Elysian fields, where the pleasures offered the good are exhibited. The denouement comes with the meeting between Aeneas and his father, Anchises, when the former is afforded a view of the future of his race, which comes as the answer to his questioning.

Waycross, Ga., November 15 .-

Special.)-The meeting here today of the Atlantic-to-Mississippi Canal association was well attended by elegates from northern Florida and southeast Georgia, the district through which the prospective canal will pass. About twenty-five delegates from the National Drainage will pass. About twenty-five delegates from the National Drainage congress are in attendance. They made a trip of inspection to Gogdell this morning, where the use of high explosives in drainage work was demonstrated.

The Canal association was called to order at 2 o'clock by C. C. Thomas, secretary and managing director, who explained the purpose of the association and the plans now being made. Hon. D. M. Parker made the address of welcome for the city and was responded to by Senator L. R. Aikin. Senator Harris made a strong speech favoring the canal, pointing out the economical value that would come from such a canal. The amount of coal saved in transportation of foodstuffs alone would amount to millions of dollars per year, the senator stated. Representative Lankford addressed the meeting, promising his whole-hearted support of the measure, and showed that it was a commercial necessity. J. H. Becker, of Camden county, Georgia, presented a sample of flax that was raised on reclaimed land, showing that the land that would be opened off for cultivation is equal to any in the country.

NEW YORK TO PROBE BUILDING CONTRACTS

New York, November 15.—After a conference today with the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust," the board of estimate authorized a public investigation into all city building contracts and "into any combinations or conspiracies in connection with same."

"We find the whole community in the grip of monopolies and combinations from the lowest to the highest." said Mr. Untermyer. "Many abuses are eating at the vitals of all developments. Pirates an dbuccaneers masquerading in the garb of labor are practicing blackmail and extortion on people engaged in building enterprises."

SIX NEGROES TO HANG, DECLARES GOV. BROUGH

"When a man goes out to get drunk," said Recorder George E. Johnson as with judicial deliberation he folded his hands and leaned over his desk at the police matinee Monday afternoon, "he should first deposit about 311 with the desk sergeant in the lieutenant's office—then, when he's arrested, his fine is paid."

Judge Johnson paused, and the prisoner at the bar appeared to consider the advice.

"Now," his honor continued, "you've gotten up here charged with being drunk, and when I put a fine on you, you say you've got mo money—spent it all on the whisky—take a seat."

G. E. Merritt, arrested on Saturday by Patrolman W. C. Patrick, by whom a charge of being drunk was docketed against him, stepped back from the tribunal as the judge called "Next!" His fine, $5 and costs, later was paid by a friend.

The Why

THERE are reasons for the steady increase in demand for Borden's Malted Milk:

It is the Malted Milk with the rich full-cream milk blended with wheat flour and barley malt. It has a delicate different flavor with no excess sweetness nor after taste. It is the most complete form of nourishment, and being partially pre-digested is particularly desirable for one regaining lost health.

WHY WAIT TILL MARCH? Mark Sullivan, in his article appearing elsewhere in The Constitution today, discussing the possibilities of President Wilson's attitude toward the peace treaty question between now and the expiration of his term of office next March 4. says that for the president "to resubmit the treaty (to the present senate next month) would be a dramatic thing, but it is difficult to see how it could be other than a futile thing."

"Future,", he thinks "because first, of the probability that the fire. senate would not act on the document during the short session, and, second, because of the probable reversal of Senator Lodge's position, in the event of the president's assurance that he would now accept the treaty in the amended form proposed by Senashort term? The fact of the resubmission of the document by the president with the assurance that he is now prepared to abide by whatever action the senate might take, would place squarely upon shoulders other than his full responsibility for further delay,

The republican senate refused to ratify the treaty as the president wanted it ratified. It refused to approve Article 10, which the president still maintains is the "heart of the treaty."

Today's Talk

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS. (Convright, 1920, for The Constitution.) I KNOW A FELLOW.

I know a fellow whose lips stand out more than any other feature of his face. And they are drawn together so that they are almost circular in shape. But they are that way from whistling so much!

I know a fellow who has lots of wrinkles on each side of his face. They extend from the corner of the eyes to the base of the chin. They are pretty deep, too. But they are caused by an overcharge of smiles!

I know a fellow who isn't known for his style in dress. He often forgets to wear a hat. And so etimes he forgets many of the little things that go to make up the ordinary rules that govern attitude and deportment. But he is terribly honest and when he looks at you and talks with you, he doesn't shift his eye—but looks right into the center of all that you are.

I know a fellow who works "from sun to sun" and who will never be elected president of the United States or of anything else. His hands are rough and hard. His face is fine and clean. He lives from the profit of the soil. He has no ambition to be anything but a creator for others. He will never be rich in money—or learned in mind. But he will always be known as one of God's husbandmen.

that there is no such disease. I have settled the catching cold question and the rheumatism question by that simple method. And in truth there is no such disease as eczema. That is plainly evident in the cordial way in which all competent skin specialists clash on a definition of eczems. I have consulted all the present day authorities on the subject and I find that there is positively no such disease as eczemaat any rate there is no more tangible evidence of the occurrence of such a disease than there is of the occurrence of a "cold" or "rheumatism." I know a fellow who takes pride in what he does because "the gods see everywhere!" He is prompt and courteous, kind and gentle, strong in body and mind, and he never forgets that "there is room at the top." So he keeps doing the best that he knows every day—trying to make each new day a better one than the one before.

for the things in which he believes I know a fellow who doesn't hesi-tate to take blame when it comes his way—but who constantly strives to make no mistakes at all.

Aren't they fine fellows to know— or to be?

Great Tide of Unemployed Expected to Sweep South

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON. Washington, November 15.—As winter progresses indications are the tide of the unemployed will turn southward and Atlanta, Jacksonville and the larger cities of the south east will entertain more "panhandle tourists" this season than at any time since before the war. Bankers and business men gener ally do not hesitate to say that the south, even with the cotton crisis facing it, is in better shape today than any section of the United States, with less danger of serious industrial depression The southerners have been more conservative. and, true to their heritage, have een more democratic. While this situation is growing more acute there is a well-defined movement already under way to unite the farming interests of the south and west into a tight, working cohesiveness, looking to the complete rehabilitation of the democratic party in the congressional elections of 1922.

It is freely predicted that the political pendulum will begin to swing back with increasing momentum by that time.

Far be it from me to anticipate for political effect, any depression following the recent landslide for the republicans, but I do say that unmistakable facts demonstrate that the sweeping defeat of the democrats has failed to make any easie the great problems of reconstruction that must be adjusted. New York, Nevember 15 .- Battery park swarms with an army of small merchants when the emigrant tug from Ellis Islands lands its daily load of future citizens. They make many sales because they are foreign born, and new arrivals will gladly make purchases to be able to talk to them in their native tongue and get directions about the city. The emigrants hud-dle together like sheep before the impending storm.

The towering outline of Manhattan impresses them from a distance, but when they approach the jagged skyline of skyscrapers, deep street canyons and the general arwith awe. There is something piti-able about their dumb helplessness. Some remain in Battery park all day, afraid to fare forth into the new world. Others mount the stairs o the elevated trains with hyster-cal giggles. There is a warm kindcal giggles. There is a warm kind-iness about the inspectors who are n charge, and the strangers shake ands timidly and bow their thanks efore departing.

Invariably the emigrant carries double his weight in luggage. He brings his own bedding, many times his wash basin and other household utensils, and then there is generally a framed picture of the family group he left behind. Sentiment runs high among them.

More than for gold, or diamonds, or even 'booze," the peoples of all continents demand cotton. And fust now. half-naked by the world war, they need it more than ever before, and by 1925 will be in condition to indulge themselves in every staple and by-product of the divinely-favored fibre.

Since the expositions of 1881 and 1905 many important changes have come into the equations of cotton production and manipulation. New processes of planting, fertilization and harvesting have developed electric power has put new thrills into spindles and looms; new uses for lint and seed and stalk have become common; and the improvements in the textile arts are be yond any dreams that ever drifted through the imaginations of the cotton experts of the last genera-

If we are soon to have universal peace the world's demands for cotton products is sure to exceed the pace of production. If we are to revert to the old belligerencies mammoth armaments and new wars on every continent, cotton for thos purposes will be sought for-and even fought for-by all the battlefitting nations of the globe. The modern cannon without cotton is a futile pop-gun. If we shall build the proposed exposition upon cotton as the central subject, and plan to exploit in the exhibitions every phase of the surprised the village of Sanatoga, staple's contact with world comfort and world commerce, we will instantly interest in its development and success the most widespread powerful and capitalized industry of civilization. Around that central nivot will gather any other industry, art or invention that will desire to exhibit itself to the attention of the concourses that cotton will assemble. But success of unquestionable measure will be assured from the hour that the world knows that Atlants is going to show it everything known about the growth, manufacture and distribution of the great and indispensable gift of God that has its best habitat and honor in the sunny south of this unrivalled republic.

the government to set next January 3 as the date for hearing appeals from lower court decrees in a suit which is expected to result in a final ruling as to what shall, be considered "invested capital" within the meaning of section 203 of the 1917 revenue act.

The suit was brought by the La Belle Iron Works company to recover more than $1,000,000 in taxes alleged to have been illegally collected by the federal government. The iron works purchased certain ore lands in 1904 for $190,000 and it claimed that by 1912 the value had increased to more than $10,000,000. It claimed the right to increase its invested capital to the a ount of the increased value of the lands, but the internal revenue bureau insisted that the increase was in reality "income" and levied the tax on that basis.

JAPANESE EXCLUSION PROTESTED BY OKUMA

Tokio, November 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Marquis Okuma, former Japanese premier, addressing a meeting today, strongly attacked the plan to exclude Japanese from America by treaty. He pointed out that hitherto immigration was restricted under a voluntary agreement because it was realized that restriction was prejudicial to Japan's prestige. The present effort to make restriction dicial to Japan's prestige. The present effort to make restriction tatutory, he said, was an act of fidelity to Japanese-American friendship.

The former premier believed that Washington would be able to stop Californian measures by enlisting public opinion of the whole country. If Japan's appeals to America's sense of international morality failed, the speaker continued, only force remained. Japan sincerely desired a solution of the problem, he concluded, fearing that otherwise the question would lead up to an outburst of self-sacrificing patriotism for which the Japanese people are noted.

Bloodhounds Fail To Effect Capture Of Two Highwaymen

Two negro highwaymen, whose identity has not been ascertained, were trailed by blood hounds from a corner of South Bo vard, near the federal prison, to the vicinity of the Soldiers home, after officials of the county police had been notified that the men had attempted to hold up, at the point of pistols, a man who gave his name as Mr. Walker. No arrests have yet been made.

His Friend and His Wife

BY COSMO HAMILTON.

Miss Virginia Walker was hostess at a buffet supper Sunday evening at her home on Myrtle street, compilmenting two attractive visitors. Miss Margaret Blair, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Miss Helen Garageus, of Philadelphia, the guests of Miss Henrietta Davis.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums arsanged in silver baskets and vases decorated the room where the guests were received. In the dining room the lace-covered table was adorned with a silver basket of yellow chrysanthemums, the handle tied with a yellow tulle bow. Silver compotes held yellow and white mints and bonbons.

Miss Walker was gowned in blue georgette crepe fashioned over red satin, with a vest of Oriental brocade in gold, red and blue. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. C. Irving Walker, Jr.

You're lying when you say you don't love me. "Yes," she said, "I am lying; but before very long I shall make it the truth. There's Bob and my boy. Go away. Please go away."

CHAPTER IV.

Within sound of the gusts of laughter and the constant rattle of voices that came from the house in which was being celebrated the triumph of Margaret Meredith, Dalsy Osborn dined alone.

A girl of twenty-two, to whom everything had come easy and who had only just begun to realize that life is not like a very smart car which can be refilled with gasoline at a moment's notice and, if slightly out of order, made as efficient as ever again by any quantity of experts for a mere handful of money, Daisy Osborn felt that she was standing on the lip of an abyss and was startled, disconcerted and almost inclined to disbellef.

Her beauty and high spirits, her knack of saying witty things on the spur of the moment, and her limitless fund of vitality had made her the center of the group of young people among which she had been brought up. She had not been the spoiled ewe lamb of her family, became cocky and putting her in her place when she endeavored to give orders. She was, therefore, imbued with the spirit of sportsmanship which only the possession of brothers gives a girl. The magnet of her beauty had drawn to her side all sorts and conditions of borsfrom the moment when she had been able to wield a tennis racquet with sufficient strength to make her service worth taking. At eighteen she cold have had her pick of all the most eligible members of the younger sea within fifty miles of her father's house. She had flirted with the same light-heartedness and high spirits with which she had done every other blessed thing that there was to do; all her days had run on oiled wheels, and ther laugh and the dangerous gift of looking at a girl as though she alone lived in the world.

Too impetuous for caution and too young to be able to steady herself with arguments against giving her heart to a man whose good looks made him the target of all feminine eyes, she immediately succumbed and within a month of their first meeting was married. There was something, medieval in this love of hers, something fairy-book-like and almost tragic. Julian was to here the gallant, splendid, golden-souled person of whom she had read as a child in the immortal stories in which men and women have no dross and walk unscathed through trouble and tribulations, forever faithful. And this love, the first big real thing in her life, altered her point of view and turned her from a bright, ubiquitous, merry, thoughtless creature into a little woman dominated by the home feeling and inspired with a deepseated desire to live up to the exaltation of wifehood.

Her first year of marriage had been a short and beautiful dream. There had been no single fly in the amber of her happiness and joy.

amber of her happiness and joy. amber of her happiness and Joy.

But during the secona year Julian's ardor had gradually cooled; he was away from home for unexplained periods, and people began to talk. Innuendoes and anonymous 'letters began to gather, and presently pride stepped in; and on her demand for an explanation Daisy received an outburst of angry words and a statement from Julian that he might be found at his club. Finally her advised the unhappy little wife to have her husband watched, with the result which brought about the But even now, disillusioned as she was. Daisy stood among the debris of her dreams with a fine and splendid courage, thankful for one thing-that her friend Margaret Meredith was not the woman in the case. Still nothing much more than a child, she sat broken and alone in her house of first love, a sort of widow, not able to realize where the legal process had left her. She had asked Julian to come back with her to the house and talk things over. He had followed her as far as the door and then without a word had turned away and disappeared into the dusk. disappeared into the dusk. Where was he, and what was he doing? Knowing nothing about the intricate divorce laws which are different in every state and are a puzzle even to lawyers, she supposed that as Margaret had been proved not guilty, her case had failed. Bob Meredith and Margaret would go on again 22 before. Why shouldn't she and Julian do the same?

She was still sitting in lonely.

She was still sitting in lonely, state at the dining table at which Julian's place was empty when Mrs. Mundy sailed in radiant in a dress Mundy sailed in radiant in a dress. Mundy sailed in, radiant in a dress which sparkled with sequins. Women with white hair always sparkle with sequins. In life as well as on the stage these things go together. The laughter and the high voices of the celebrants from the house near by still drifted ironically in. Gibert Carlton, Mrs. Holbrook, Nina Hopper, Doris Clayton, the Petersons, Elsa Mahon and the leading spirits of the Quaker Hill Colony were all there. In their boisterous joy at the happy reunion of Bob and Maggie Meredith they seemed to have little thought of the tragedy which had stalked into the house of Julian and Daisy Osborn.

The inclement weather of Monday naturally slowed the campaign's success a little bit, but Chairman Julian Boehm, of the men's division, and Chairman Mrs. Samuel Humpkin, of the woman's division, were encouraged by the good work-which had been done despite the rain and disagreeable weather, and confident that Tuesday, as a hustling round-up day, would give Atlanta the privilege fo leading the southern division again.

Block Subscriptions.

F. J. Cooledge & Sons, prominent paint merchants, led in the block subscriptions Monday by delivering to campaign headquarters their check for $100—enough to cover memberships for all their employees despite the fact that the general canvass had been able to secure many subscriptions from the employees themselves. The Consumers' Ice company also made a block subscription for its employees, turning over to Chairman Boehm a check for $25.

A get-together meeting of all the workers Monday afternoon in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce building resulted in the expression of a determination to finish the work of the enrollment Tuesday. In addition to those who worked through the rain and slush Monday there were many others who volunteered their services for the final day. Mr. Boehm received several telephone messages from young ladies who worked in the cold of Friday and Saturday, saying that colds contracted from standing on street corners kept them from continuing their work, although they each expressed a desire to continue the work of enrollment.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either to make a full pint. It you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungaloosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ sounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything size. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Housewifes Burden

When a woman is almost distracted from overwork, her home is in disorder, crying children, and on top of all is suffering from backache, bearing down pains, or some other form of feminine ills, then she should remember that hundreds of women in just her condition have been restored to health and regained their youthful strength by taking Lydia E. Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine. —Mrs. J. R. Matthews, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby came when I could no longer keep up. It strengthened my back and relieved me of the ill effect which so often develops at such times. That was my first experience with the Vegetable Compound. Years afterwards I took it during the Change of Life and got along so well I scarcely ever had to lie down during the day and seldom had dizzy, fainting spells. I am now well and strong, can do all my housework with perfect ease and it is a comfort to me to be able to say to other suffering women 'take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and be strong.' I will be glad to have you use my name if it will be the means of helping any one." — Mrs. R. A. FAIRBURN, 606 Orchard Knob Ave, Chattanooga, Tenn.

The project for a world's fair in Atlanta in 1925 is receiving the support of virtually every fraternal order and business organisation of the city. The Constitution published Sunday the statements of a number of officers of fraternal orders here, supporting the movement. This morning a number of additional statements are presented.

Jesse M. Wood, grand chancellor, Knights of Pythias of Georgia, said:

"As the executive head of the order of Knights of Pythias in Georgis, I am heartily in favor of holding in Atlanta in 1925 a great exposition as has been proposed. It will not only benefit the city of Atlanta, but the state of Georgia as a whole. It will bring into the city and state from all other states representatives of all the great fraternal orders who will be glad of an opportunity to hold their national conventions in Atlanta while the exposition is open. In this way a large class of people who would not otherwise come will be given an opportunity to learn of our progressive city and the wonderful resources of our state."

Thomas M. Poole, great chief of records, Georgia Red Men, said:
"It would be the greatest thing that could happen for the city, state and fraternal orders in general. All orders should back it to the greaset extent. Am willing to lend my utmost support."

Frank F. Smith, past great sachem of Georgia Red Men, said:
"A conference of the big chiefs of the Red Men will be called soon to begin a campaign among the members to assist in the undertaking. The orders need it; the city needs it, and in benefiting the orders about to all."

Sam W. Smith, deputy state commander of the Maccabees, said:

Sam W. Smith, deputy state commander of the Maccabees, said.
"I know of no movement that is of more importance than this at this particular time, as it will not only be of great benefit to all the only be of great benefit to all tothers as well. It will help stabilize business and give employment to thousands. The Maccabees, not only indorse the movement, but will work for it. I will at once appoint a strong committee to represent us."

Record Crowd to Witness Fight TORNADO Baseball Is Hurt by Politicians; HERRING Between Bulldog and Alabamians IS HAVING

This year there seems to be a different story. Georgia has that same old defense that completely befuldled the Crimson players in 1919, and in addition, the Buildog is a hungry brute this year, and seems to have a grip that is capable of causing untold damage.

C. Z. Colsson, secretary of the Atmits Baseball association, who was med chairman of the arrangements committee recently, announced yesterday that despite the bad eather that swooped down on the y Monday, the advance seat sale acceded his wildest expectations, and that instead of setting the mark ten thousand, he and his associates believed the gate receipts would be well above twelve thousand paid admissions, which will be the largest football crowd ever witnessing a gridiron classic on Poncy field.

This struggle will give Atlanta's thousands of pigskin fans a chance to pay tribute to two great football outlits, and a great crowd would be a fine compliment to both teams.

There always has been something of the romantic in these annual has There always has been something of the romantic in these annual battles of the Empire State's sons pittled against worthy opponents from our sister commonwealth, and this game Salurlay picmises to be what Georgia-Alabama battles have always been—clean, hard-fought engagements between evenely balanced elevens.

Alabama won the last grapple between the giants, due mainly to the wickel boot of one Talty O'Connor, who slapped a couple of field goals through Georgia's posts. The Red and Black staged a brilliant, desperate fight against the Alabamians, and succeeded in stilling every wave of the Crimson tide except that section of it which was composed of Mr. O'Connor's mouthpaw" foot.

Georgia was but able to muster up sufficient or ensive strength to cross the last white line of the Alabamian's, however, and defeat was the result.

Coach Stegeman had a wonderful defensive machine at the offset this time, so he and Jimmy DeHart have paid most of their attention to perfections. s to whether their efforts have met with any success, we point to the 56-to-0 licking the Floridians were forced to see pasted on their taugh old 'gator hides last Satur-were forced to see pasted on their tough old 'gator hides last Saturday.

'Georgia's offense has 'arrived' and that overwhelming tide from Alabama runs an excellent chance of getting a huge chunk bitten out of its skin by the Athenian Bulldog Saturday.

Against all of the teams Georgia has faced this year, an impenetrable line has been shown, and we do not believe Stevenson, the battering ram, will be able to accomplish any more against it than was Ed Shirling on that memorable occasion in Columbus, when he was sent in to buck the ball over from Georgia's five-yard line. Shirling struck a brick wall, and one of the very few that has succeeded in holding him, even for an instant, this year.

Around Owen Reynolds and his running mate, Page Bennett, few of the southland's flashy backs have been able to navigate, and to save our soul we can't force imagination to paint a picture of Lenoir and his comrades soiling consistently around these dangerous shoals.

The overwhelming and decisive defeat of the Florida 'Gators last Saturday gives the ed, as compared with only three points scored by opponents. There are two more games left on the schedule. These are the Alabama game, to be played in Atlanta on this coming Saturday. November 20, and the Clemson contest, to be staged in Athens on Turkey day. However, just now, the Alabama contest looms up as a stumbling block to a victorious season. Alabama is also an undefeated eleven and one of the heaviest scoring thachines in the S. I. A. A. A strong defensive, combined with the backfield, composed of Mully Lenoir, stevenson, O'Connor and Hovater, should prove a difficult proposition, and a hard game to win.

Alabama's duo of wins in the last two games she has played furnish good index as to the strength of the machine. The Vandy eleven went down in defeat before the Crimeon tide by a touchdown majority, while L. S. U. was decisively defeated on Armistice day. Alabama has practically the same eleven that she had last year, and last year Georgia was defeated by the "Thin Red Line" by two drop-licks from the toe of O'Connor at the for the Alabama. It will be remembered that Alabama was never able to pierce the Red and Black line when she had worked the oval within striking distance of Georgia's goal. Georgia has a better line this year than she had last, so it's a fairly reasonable supposition to say that Alabama will experience considerable difficulty in scoring through the Georgia line on next Saturday.

New Star Shines.

The Florida game brought to light a pew star in the person of Sheldon Mits, who was a brilliant performer at G. M. C. last year. Fitts ran the team from the quarterback position and was the best and most consistent ground-gainer of the afternoon. Buck Cheeves is still on the injured list and it is not known at present whether he will be able to play against the Alabama gridders or not. In the event he is not in condition to play, Fitts will probably be called on to perform the duties of general, and his playing against the Florida eleven would seem to predict good work against the Crimson.

A defeat for either team will mean that one will be eliminated from the championship race. There will be only a few new faces in either line-up and the scene of battles will be the same as last year. The task of the Georgia line will be to stop the line-plunging of Stevenson and the Grider limited as the Grider line will be consistently against the Gators Saturday and those who only played a part of the contest was staged. The next five days will be strenuous enes, because of the difficult game to be won Saturday. The Georgia team has proved its worth in the last two games. The Auburn game was a real test and the coming game with Alabama should prove as hard as the Virginia or Auburn game. A real treat is in store for the football ms who attend the contest and tattle from start of finish.

These tournaments are wonderful training for the larger tournaments throughout the year and no doubt had a great deal to do with the splendid showing the Atlanta women made in the southern women's tournament recently held in New Orleans.

Next year the southern will meet in Atlanta over the East Lake links and it is the purpose of the Atlanta association to hold these monthly tournaments and enable its members to have plenty of tournament practice. The matches can be played any time on Friday at Ansley Park.

Should the death of Shepard last May have been caused by poison, as alleged, it is natural, in view of the above report, to assume that some poison which cannot be found in the viscera after a certain period of time has elapsed was used. Cannot Be Isolated.

Monday night Dr. Everhart stat-ed that there are a number of poisons, rarely used in this country in criminal cases, which, due to the small amount required to produce death, or on account of their losing their identity after entering the human system, or because of passage, cannot be isolated by

Value of Pathologist.

In meeting some such problem as offered above the pathologist can go much further than the chemist. According to the statements of local physicians discussing a hypothetical case, the pathologist would be able to reveal esential facts from such symptems as vomiting, diarrhoea and severe pain before death. After death it was stated that one might expect black spots upon the intestines, extreme jinfammation of the vital organs and a generally abnormal condition of the delicate tissues, similar to peritonitis as the reported cause of Shepard's death.

In views of these facts it is considered logical to assume that if poisoning took place some toxine was used and accounts for the failure to isolate a chemical cause of the death.

It is understood that the reports of Dr. Everhart and Dr. Funke, if he is the second expert to be employed, will be rendered to the coroner's jury called for Friday at 2 o'clock by Solleitor Garrett, according to dispatches from Macon Monday night.

The most authoritative version of the case which The Constitution has been able to obtain to date, from the events preceding Shepard's death to the present, follows:

Prior to Shepard's Illness of last May it is stated that Dr. Elmer had visited the family at Fort Valley, although it is not believed that he was present at the time of the illness. It is understood that Mrs. Elmer, then Mrs. Shepard, was present when her husband was first taken sick, despite the fact that she had previously Jeft him, it is stated, and taken up her abode in Jacksonville, where Dr. Elmer was located as a practicing physician.

Mr. Shepard was removed from his home during the illness and carried to a Macon hospital, where he died after an operation.

Following the death of the millionaire peach grower, his wife was appointed executor of the estate, said to be valued at $3,000,000. A few weeks after the death a will, which, it is stated, was made by Mr. Shepard thirteen days prior to his death, was mailed anonymously to Mrs. Alice Crandall, sister of the deceased. This will is said to have provided for other disposition of the major part of the estate than that arranged by the widow.

Little attention seems to have given to the telegram of a few day ago from Dr. John Vanvalkah, of Erie, Pa., advising that the body of the former Mrs. Elmer be exhume and subjected to analyses. Dispatches from Jacksonville state the an autopsy was performed upon he body immediately after death, which occurred in 1919, according to vota statistics, and no indications of poison found. However, Vanvalkah telegram was turned over to Jacksonville authorities for action. It is expected that the next developments will come from For Walley during the latter part of the week.

Liquidation of Stocks Has About Run Course SLUMP IS CHECKED

New York, November 15.-For the time being at least liquidation in the stock market has run its course. There was an irregular open-Central Leather was off 1-2 point and Steel common up a small fraction. Crucible was down a full point and American Tobacco nearly two, while Northern Pacific and Reading were up 1 1-4 and 1 7-8, respectively. Around the end of the first half-hour there was a sharp decline during which new low records for the year were made by United States Steel, American Tobacco, Crucible, Pan-American, Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin and many other active shares. The stock last named was heavily soled for the first time this year under 100, the price of 97 3-4 reached in the second hour comparing with this year's high of 148 1-2, with 156 1-4 the high for 1919, and all time, and 154 1-2 for 1915, the beginning of the big price upturn. For 1914 Baldwin moved between 38 1-2 and 52 1-8. After touching 154 1-2 in 1915 there were many setbacks. Last year's low price was 64 7-8. So, it would appear, the Baldwin, which is used merely as an illustration, still has some distance to go before reaching the pre-war level.

PRE-WAR LEVEL NOT YET REACHED.
Following today's early decline there was a sharp recovery and Selling from out-of-town was undoubtedly checked by the very poor telegraph service, especially from the west. Then there was unusual telephone troubles in the financial district which greatly slowed up trading. General recovery in price was due first on technical conditions and then on the improved position of the banks. The twelve Federal Reserve banks as a whole reduced their loans by $54,000,000, the first reduction reported since this time in October. Deposits were also reduced by $20,000,000, note circulation was down $25,200,000, cash was up $10,000,000. and the legal reserve ratio was up to 43.6, against 43 a week ago and 47.1 a year ago.

This is a decided improvement and the renewal rate on call money today was 8 1-2 per cent the lowest since October 25. Further improvement in the position of the banks may be slow; but it is not likely to again get worse. In brief, this may be the turning point in the strain on the hanks

COPPER RANGE DECLARES DIVIDEND.

Directors of the Copper Range company met today and passed the quarterly dividend of 50 cents. This action as the 15 per cent reduction in wages just announced by Calumet & Hecla reflect conditions in the copper trade. The selling price of that metal is now down to pre-war basis. When the armistice was signed in November of 1918, copper was selling at 26 cents because it was one of the necessities of war. That price, compared with 14 3-4 in November of 1913, the year before the war started. Today the price of copper is 14 3-4 cents. It may go lower, but this much is certain, copper has come nearer to being liquidated than most commodities

In passing the 2 1-2 per cent quarterly common dividend, the first time this dividend has been passed in the history of the company, directors of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company announce that the action was due to existing general business and financial conditions and the desire to conserve cash assets. That is the raeson usually given. In a statement being prepared for the shareholders, however, the management will point out in more or less detail the real cause of dividend suspension. That is, that in anticipation of large business, the company's gross earnings, it was learned today, for the year ending October 31, 1920, were $205,000,000 against last year's high record of $169,000,000, and only $9,000,000 for 1910. A large inventory was built up which recent developments In general trade made unnecessary. It will be pointed out further in the letter to be sent to shareholders that a floating debt of $20,-000,000 incurred through building up this inventory, has been taken care of through loans just negotiated and secured by the inventory. This would indicate that the bankers are going to liquidate the inventory as they are now doing in many other lines of industry. On December 31, 1919, inventory stood at $35,866,000 against $30,507,000 at the close of 1918, and only $4,677,000 in 1913. In all probability the inventory was largely increased after December 31, 1919, to get ready for the expected record-breaking business.

WESTERN RAILWAY TRAFFIC OFF. Today's dispatches from the west report that general railway traf-piled up a surplus reserve of $32,200,0000 last week, wiping out the deficit of $1,300,000.91 the week before. Moreover, this improvement in condition occurred without rediscounting additional paper at the Federal Reserve, where rediscounts for members remained practically stationary. At the reserve bank itself, there was a reduction of $14,000,000 of money it had previously borrowed from other reserve banks. On the whole, the vituation here was improved, but not sufficiently to justify any hope if easy money in the immediate future.

Much talk is heard in financial circles about the inability of unrecount talk is learned in the financial circles about the inability of the are have been wiped out. There is a question, however, as to how ch of this loss may b written off for the purpose of reducing tax ments and as a result there will be much confusion next year in doubt the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as many specials within the collector of internal revenue will be much confusion next year as mental revenue will be much confusion next year as mental revenue will be much confusion next year and as a result there will be much confusion next year and as a result there will be much confusion next year and as a result there will be much confusion next year and as a result there will be much confusion next year and so as a result there will be much confusion next year and so as a result there will be much confusion next year and as a result there will be much confusion next year and the sum of the profits of the confusion of $1.000 to and no doubt the collector of internal revenue will be called upon to make many special rulings. According to statements made in street there has been a petition already started requesting Washington to pass some special legislation in order to relieve some of the hard hit concerns.

BANKS HOLDING FUNDS TIGHT.

Banks all around the country are holding tight to their resources until the expected call for condition comes from Comptroller Williams at Washington. When this wait is over money from all parts of the country, Wall street bankers predicted today, is going to flow in this direction.

In the last hour call money dropped first to 7 per cent on cheaper money and short covering stocks closed at or near the best of the day. Steel common was up nearly 1 1-2 points, Mexican Petroleum and Crucible 4. Copper shares were weak, Anaconda dropping from 45 1-2 to 40 3-4.

STOCKS OPENING

Several New Low Records Are Established by Speculative Industrials and Affiliated Specialties-Dealings Approximate 400,000 Shares in First Hour.

New York, November 15.—The week in the stock market opened with a resumption of the recent pronounced reactionary trend, but this was checked before midday, after several new low records had been established by speculative industrials and affiliated specialties.

Selling in the first hour, when dealings approximated 400,000 shares, probably included the further weeding out of weakened accounts, whose holders were unable to respond to calls for extra margins.

Gross recessions extended from 1 to almost 4 points, but most of these were recovered when buying of a supposedly substantial character set in among the seasoned rails and industrials of the type represented by rafilway equipments and popular oils. Such leaders as United States Steel, Reading, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Mexican and Pan-American and Royal Dutch finished at gains of liberal fractions of 21-8 points, while Baldwin, after displaying marked recuperative power.

Some comfort was found in the money situation, last Saturday's better clearing house report doubtless contributing to the ease shown by call loans. This form of accommodation opened at 81-2 per cent, the lowest rate in about three weeks, later declining to 7 per cent. In foreign exchange the noteworthy feature was a moderate recovery of the Spanish rate.

New Orleans, November 15.—Unfavorable weather conditions in the belt put the cotton market strongly higher today and the advance continued until heavy realizing was met from the long side after which there were reactions. At the best of the day prices were 57 to 81 points over the close of Saturday. In the last few minutes of the session the ring had more cotton points over the close of Saturday. In the last few minutes of the session the ring had more cotton thrown upon it than it could absorb and closing prices were at net gains of but 11 to 34 points. December was the strongest month and it traded up to 18.25 at its best, but closed at 17.78.

The rains of over Sunday and the cold weather following with a forecast of freezing temperatures for a good part of the belt were responsible for fears that a great deal of cotton had been or would be so lowered in grade that it would not be picked and much comment circulated in the early hours about the yield being materially shortened in consequence. For the greater part of the day there was no staying the advance.

Heaviest buying followed reports from Texas that no picking had been possible in a week in some localities and the rumor that a large line of short contracts was being covered. It was an active market throughout the day with the greatest volume of business after midsession.

ries in Cotton Break in Closing Hour

New York, November 15.—(Special.)—Prices held steady and higher until near the close when a wave of southern selling appeared and, due to lack of buying power at that time, forced prices downward. We still expect rapid price changes, and, as previously suggested, we think the trend will depend upon the affitude of southern holders.

J. W. JAY & CO. New York, November 15.—(Special.)—
There is no real change in the general situation, but on the other hand, sentiment in the trade is a little more hopeful in that there is a feeling it would be better to look for factors which will bring about a turn in the market toward higher prices, rather than to continue to sell with the idea that prices were going lower. We think that this is a natural and advisable point of view. The only difficulty is that as yet there seems to be no real change in the general buckess outlook.

Material Upturn in Wheat Follows News of Bolsheviki Success-Corn Unchanged to 3-4c Higher. ATLANTA. CHARLOTTE. LAFAYETTE. L. Oats Slightly Up.

Chicago, November 15.—Material upturns in the price of wheat took place today with much of the buying ascribed to export houses. Bolsheviki success in southern Russia was construed as a bullish factor. The market closed firm, 3% to 5½c net higher, with December $1.83 % to $1.84 %, and March $1.75 % to $1.75 %. Corn finished unchanged to %c higher, oats up % to %c, and provisions unchanged to an advance of 90 cents.

Throughout the day developments regarding grain attracted more attention in the wheat plt than did news about unfavorable aspects of the general business situation. This difference from the opposite tendency which has prevailed of late, was especially noticeable concerning Russian advices, the popular assumption being that from now on there would be no grain shipments from Russia. Scantiness of receipts here, together with evidence multiplying that farmers were refusing to sell, counted also as a handicap on the bears. The near approach of the end of lake navigation appeared to be a further stimulating influence, and besides considerable notice was taken of comment that recent declines had been the most severe since the reconstruction period after the civil war.

Selling pressure on corn and oats war.

Selling pressure on corn and oats forced them to the lowest prices yet this season, but wheat strength brought about rallies.
Firmness in the provision market was largely the result of higher quotations on hogs.

Marquesa San Vicente del Barco arrived at the Spanish embassy and entered the ballroom which had been converted into a chapel, a real gasp came from the brilliant company of wedding guests. The duke's bride's wedding dress just hung below her knees and even that portion of it was made of flounces of priceless Brussels lace which had apparently no more opaque foundation than a petticoat of crepe de chine! However, everybody seemed quite happy and satisfied and when the preity Marquesa was converted into an equally delightful duchessa, all felt that they could openly admire the beautifully shaped silk-clad limbs that the duke's wife displayed so frankly and alluringly. The Duke of Aba, by the way, is as well known in London as he is in Paris or Madrid. He was educated at Eton and Oxford and used to spend much of his time with the ex-Empress Eugenie at Farnborough Hill. He was, I think, the old lady's grand-nephew. At any rate, she left a large part of her great fortune to him.

London, November 1.—I fancy that London has won the world's record for short skirted brides! I have seen brides with sakirts that fust gave a glimpse of the swelling "upper ankle," but I really think that the dress worn by the Spanish bride of the Duke of Alba has never been equaled in shortness.

The fact, when the beautiful young Marquesa San Vicente del Barco arrived at the Spanish bride's wedding dress just hung below her knees and even that portion of it was made of flounces of priceless Brussels lace which had apparently no more opaque foundation than a petticoat of crept de chined. However, everybody seemed quite However, everybody seemed quite happy and satisfied and when the printy Marquesa was converted into an equally delightful duchess, all felt that they could openly admire the beautifully shaped slik-clad limbs that the duke's wife displayed so frankly and alluringly.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Not only do the two headline acts live up to their reputations on the opening bill of the week at Loew's Grand, but the program includes two other offerings that make a spirited bid for first honors.

Despite the bad weather, big audiences attended every performance and applause was as hearty as it was evenly divided.

"Petite Musicale," a colorful episode, exhibiting six feminine singers and instrumentalists, was a big winner. Vocal solos and choruses, offerings on the violin, the harp, the saxophone, the xylophone, the cor-winner. Votal soils and chordese, offerings on the violin, the harp, the saxophone, the xylophone, the cornet, along with striking staging, proved highly enjoyable.

A real delight was uncorked in the "Emmy Lou" sketch, a drama, admirably enacted by Nancy Boyer. Henry Testa and Harry Hamilton. So human is the story and so realistic is the handling that tears and laughter were plentiful in front of the footlights.

A sprightly planologue by Elsie Harvey and George Stifter scored heavily. The principals are a redheaded Venus and a clever masculine entertainer. Copes and Hutton, self-styled "nuts," certainly qualified in that capacity when they were not producing most agreeable vocal harmony. Victoria and DuPre, original gymnasts, gave the show a speedy start.

Perhaps as important a feature speedy start.

Perhaps as important a feature as any other on the bill is "The Price of Redemption," starring Bert Lytell in a romance seething with atmosphere, action and stirring acting.

"The Fighting Chance."

(At the Strand.)
The dash and color for which Robert W. The dash and color for which Robert W. Chambers' society novels are famous is present in the screen version of "The Fighting Chance," probably his greatest book, which came to the Strand theater on Monday for three days. Whether or not you agree with the author's views on heredity, which assert that a man can attribute a craving for alcohol to his ancestors and that a young girl is daring and unconventional because her grandmother was, you will be attracted by the love story and the lavish atmosphere against which'it has been filmed. In brief, "The Fighting Chance" deals with the efforts of Stephen Siward and Sylvia Landis, social derelicts, to overcome their own weaknesses. The fads and folbles of New York's smart set furnish a glittering background to their romance and its final happy ending. Conrad Nagel and Anna Q. Nilsson have the chief roles.

"The Furnace."

"The Furnace."

(At the Rialto.)

Everyone has possibly read of the wise old owl who sat in an oak, who held his own tongue, but saw and heard a great deal, yet few of us perhaps realize the virtue of such advice as "thiak more and say less" until we have had the lesson brought home in some impressive way, and "The Furnace," a big all-star feature which opened a week's engagement at the Rialto on Monday, smashes this lesson home in a way that many will remember. In that production, which is based on the new novel by the English author, "Pan," the idle threat made just before her marriage by made an Investment which proved of no value. In his search for the man who had caused the financial ruin of his father and later his death, and who also robbed him of the love of his wife, he discovers the latter in a cheap rooming house in New York. It is then, when the two come face to face, that the height of H. B. Warner's dramatic accomplishment is reached. His portrayal is forceful and dynamic, and one that overtops the portrayal of his previous success, "One Hour Before Dawn." Supporting H. B. Warner are such well-known screen celebrities as Lillian Rich. Ray Ripley, Marguerite Snow, L. M. Wells, Karl Formes and Fred G. Andrews.

Folly Vallance, a popular London actress and the bride-to-be of Anthony Bond, a wealthy social favorite, is the basis for all the tragedy that follows the marriage. The girl was heard to remark lightly that if Anthony jilted her, she would sue him for breach of promise. This was said in jest, but when the girl's fiance heard of the remark, just before the wedding, he interpreted it as meaning that the girl did not really love him. He goes shead with the marriage, but repudiates her as his wife. Some of the most powerful dramatic situations ever screened follow the estrangement. Agnes Ayres plays the role of Felly Vallance and Anthony Bond is ably portrayed by Jerome Patrick, the well-known legitimate actor and screen favorite.

"You Never Can Tell." Another film actress made

Another film actress made her bow to Atlanta play-goers last night. And the verdict seemed to be "She'll do." The occasion was the showing of "You Never Can Tell," at the Forsyth theater, where that popular young film beauty, Bebe Daniels of the pouting mouth and provocative black eyes, made her debut as a Realart star. Miss Daniels' clever work in films as leading woman in such plays as "Why Change Your Wife?" "The Fourteenth Man," "Sick-A-Bed," and "The Dancin' Fool," had shown her comedy talent, and this talent she displayed most amusingly in the present production, which is an adaptation of two of Grace Lovell Bryan's famous "Rowers" stories. As the discontented and ambitious little check-room girl in a smart New York hotel, Rowens Patricis Jones develops a passion for beautiful clothes and a violent rage at the malign destiny which has given luxury to some unattractive women and poverty to her. In desperation she deeldes to do a little vamping. The ca en and poverty to her. In desperation as deeldes to do a little vamping. The career of the amateur vamp threatens to turn into grim tragedy several times, but a real love affair with a wholesome and likeable chap asves the little adventurer before it is too late.

Norma Talmadge.

(At the Criterion.)

Surpassing all previous productions of Norma Talmadge in scenie splendor and presenting this premier emotional actress in the greatest role of her career, "The Branded Woman," opened Monday at the Criterien theater for a week's showing of the splendid picture, to crowded houses despite the disagreeable weather. Miss Talmadge is seen in the part of a young girl, the daughter of an evil woman, raised under the guardianship of an old judge, and kept in ignorance of her parentage. After an education at a girls' boarding school, she enters society and mounts the social ladder to prominence, much to the envy of her evil mother. Later she is married to the man she loves, only to be confronted by her terrible origin. In addition to the wonderful work of Miss Talmadge in the leading role and the excellent support of her strong supporting cast, a feature of the picture that is especially appealing is its lavish scenic setting. Among them particularly effective are scenes of the Far East, which reveal an open market place and a slave block, where Norma, as the heroine, is sold at public auction along with donkeys, camels and natives in pic-

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodsan's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it, a large bottle doesn't cost very much, but if it falls to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no billiousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—(adv.)

New York, November 15.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is not going to take a chance of being rendered hors du combat as a scrapper by easy living. With his match against Carpentier in prospect, Dempsey started recently to shape his mode of living so that his strength would be conserved and his apparently inexhaustible supply of "pep" maintained.

Dempsey has consulted with several expert dictitians regarding the class of food he should eat. The need for exercise Dempsey will supply himself by working in a gymnasium and taking long walks into the country at stated intervals.

"I know many champions in the past have brought about their defeat by easy living, but I am going to escape that fate if close application to business is the remedy," the champ stated.

A committee was appointed to co-operate with the movement to bring the world's fair to Atlanta in 1925. Resolutions will be drawn up by this committee and sent to Mayor Key. The members of this com-mittee are James A. Metcalf, chair-man; Harry O. Mitchell and Captain Lewis H. Bell.

Augusta Will Get Next Session of North Georgia Methodist Conference, Which Adjourned Last

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT. The fifty-fourth session of the North Georgia Methodist conference, which had been in progress since last Wednesday, came to a close late Monday night, choosing St. John church, Augusta, as the next place of meeting.

The last day of the conference was a most strenuous one, necessitating an afternoon session, which ran into the night before the appointments were read. Many matters pertaining to the church work and policy were to be considered on the last day, and some of them provoked earnest and interesting deed early in the morning session, on learning of the death of the little daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Anthony, and showed its grief by standing to vote a resolution of by standing to vote a resolution of sympathy for the bereaved parents. Practically all the morning session was taken up with calling the names of the pastors, hearing their reports and passing their characters. A session of the legal conference was held, when Rev. M. S. Williams was re-elected as president, Rev. R. F. Eakes as vice president and Rev. Dr. J. W. Quillian treasurer. The legal conference voted to abandon its claims to numerous wild lands in the mountains of the northern part of the state, on account of legal difficulties.

Rev. J. R. King asked that his name be referred to the committee on conference relations for superannuation, and it was so ordered. Rev. J. F. Roberts and Rev. Firley Baum were granted locations at their own requests. The committee on trial in the case of J. H. Hardy reported that he was found guilty of immorality, and that he had been expelled from the ministry and membership in the church. The name of Rev. F. J. Mashburn was called, and his character not passed, as the conference had heard that he had joined another church, and his name was dropped from the roll.

and his name was dropped from the roll.

Considerable debate developed when the Wesleyan Advocate report was brought in. Two laymen on the Advocate committee had urged that an assessment of $7,500 be put into the budget for the benefit of the Advocate. Dr. J. H. Eakes offered an amendment, which provided that the assessment would be accepted, provided that it was not placed in the budget, and that the South Georgia conference would assume a like assessment. The month of March was set as the month to carry out the Advocate campaign. The Eakes amendment was accepted, and the report then adopted.

Hon. Addison Maupin then advised the conference that the assessments for church work for the coming year would be as follows: For general work, $91,130; for conference work, $118,880. He declared the percentage of increases to be smaller than in former years.

Division Is Defeated. A resolution providing for a di-vision of the conference was intro-duced and urged by Rev. Marvin Williams. It was defeated by vote-

Dr. J. H. Eakes moved that a request be made that a week's time be allowed to elapse between the session of this conference and the sitting of any other conference in this episcopal district. It was adopted.

Hon. E. J. Bondurant, of Athens, was named conference lay leader for the coming year.

"Where shall the next conference be held?" was asked by Bishop Candler. St. John church, Augusta, and Wesley Memorial church, Atlanta, were placed in nomination. Urgent speeches were made in behalf of the Augusta church, and the conference voted to go there. At the next year's meeting the members of conference will be provided with lodging and breakfast and expenses for meals paid.

As the final hour came to hand, Bishop Candler led the conference in devotional exercises, and then read the appointments. Many of the preachers and laymen hurrled to catch trains for home, while others were obliged to await the morning trains.

PUG TURNS DOWN A CHANCE TO WIN ON FOUL AND LOSES

New Orleans, La., November 15. (Special.)-It isn't often that fighter gains more in defeat than he does in victory, but this is the case with Young Denny, New Orleans' sensational welterweight, who lost a decision to Frankie Carbonne in the Crescent City recently. It was the first time Denny had lost a decision in a year and in the last twelve months he has fought welter-weighte, middleweighte and heavy cision in a year and in the last twelve months he has fought welter-weights, middleweights and heavy-weights, middleweights and heavy-weights.

Denny's added popularity came in the great battle he made under big handicaps. His first big move came before the fight began when Carbonne weighed in three and a half pounds above the mark agreed upon. He refused to take Carbonne's $300 forfeit. Denny's weight was 148, Carbonne's 152 1-2 at 3 p. m. The weight agreed upon was 152 at 3 p. m. The second big event came in the third round, when Denny was unintentionally fouled. The doctor called pronounced it a foul and the referee offered Denny the bout on a foul. He refused to accept the bout and only requested a two-minute rest. He suffered considerably from the blow, but went through the fifteen rounds.
